Germans Send Reinforcements of Men

Rumanian Frontier

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Germany is preparing to evacuate France and Belgium, according to the following despatch transmitted by the Rome wireless press service today:

"Berlin newspapers are discussing the possibility of shortening the German front, which shows the gravity of their situation. It is believed this is intended to prepare the German public for the early evacuation of France and Belgium."

PARIS, Sept. 9.—In the past six days the French have captured 7,700 German prisoners, it was stated in the official communiqué issued by the war office today. A wood east of Belloy-En-Santerre, at the southern end of the Somme front, was captured by the French in attacks last night and further progress was also made in the German trenches in the sector of Denicourt, south-west of Belloy.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—A number of bombs and other explosive materials have been washed ashore on the coast of Kerry, in Ireland, and are now in possession of the military authorities. They are supposed to have some connection with the Sinn Féin uprising and the attempt of Roger Casement to land arms and ammunition in Ireland for the rebels.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 9.—Three German divisions arrived on the Rumanian frontier from Verdun on Tuesday, says a despatch from the front today. It adds that the Germans have equipped the Bulgarians with an enormous number of heavy guns for use against Rumanian fortresses.

Vienna Admits Losses in Carpathians

East of Halicz.

VIENNA, via Berlin, Sept. 9.—Gains for the Russians east of Halicz in the Carpathians were admitted in the following official statement, dated Sept. 6 and made public by the war office today:

"Russian Front—Army group of Archduke Karl.—In the Carpathians after violent attacks lasting all day the Russians gained small advantages. Other attempts to conquer ground failed. East of Halicz there has been bitter fighting. After several storm attacks the enemy pressed back this part of our line.

"Army Group of Prince Leopold.—East of Zlocow after losing artillery preparations the Russians attacked but the assault broke down under our artillery fire.

"Rumanian Front.—Only actions between reconnoitering detachments has taken place."

LONDON, Sept. 9.—In a furious hand to hand combat the British captured another trench from the Germans in the sector of Highwood (Foreaux forest), says the official report issued by the war office today. Heavy casualties were inflicted upon the Germans.

German batteries were active and heavy bombardment was carried out against certain British positions.

Russian forces fighting with the Rumanians have forced a passage of the Danube and have invaded Serbia on the northeastern corner, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail from Athens today. The Russians are reported to be advancing towards the Orient railway (the line that runs from Berlin to Constantinople), having already occupied the Serbian town of Negotin.

Negotin is seven miles inside the Serbian frontier.

SHOTS IN SELF-DEFENSE.

VERMILLION, O., Sept. 9.—Mack Allen, farm laborer, was shot and killed on the Nicholas Myers farm by Myers. Allen, who with John Pison, a neighbor, went to Myers' house, and, it is believed, Allen became suddenly insane. FEDERATED UNIONS OF NEW YORK ARE ABOUT TO STRIKE

Walkout of 750,000 Threatened in Sympathy With

Longshoremen Refuse to Handle Coal Barges for Power Plants.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Officials of the General Federated Union composed of various trade union organizations in the Metropolitan district will meet Organizer William B. Fitzgerald of the street car men's union and representatives of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees at the Continental Hotel tomorrow afternoon to discuss the time for the calling of a general industrial strike in Greater New York. One of the most striking developments today in the traction strike was the announcement by Organizer Fitzgerald that the striking traction employees will have the support of all trade unions in Greater New York and he predicted that within the next few days, the people will see the greatest demonstration in the history of union labor in this city.

"The people will realize that this is not only our fight, but their fight," said Fitzgerald.

Fitzgerald declared that the situation is favorable for the striker and that hundreds of employees who refused to go out when the strike was called have joined the strikers since yesterday. He said that 35 per cent of the men operating elevated and subway trains are strikebreakers.

Disorder in various parts of the city resulted in 18 arrests before noon.

President John F. Riley of the district council of the International Longshoremen's Association, announced that he ordered members of the Tidewater Boat Men's Union not to handle coal barges loaded with fuel for the power plants of the Interborough company.

This attempt to cut off the fuel supply necessary for the maintenance of the lines which have been operating on a normal scale despite the strike, presented a serious situation. The company claims to have enough coal for several days, but obedience to the order for a sympathetic strike by the longshoremen would perhaps completely paralyze the subway and elevated when the present available fuel runs out.

Bowersox, a Former Toledo Pastor, Expelled From M. E. Ministry

SUNDAY'S PROGRAM

9:30 a. m., Conference Love Feast.
10:30 a. m., Sermon, Bishop Wilbur P. Thirkield.

3 p. m., Ordination of Deacons and Elders, and Consecration of Deacons.

4:15 p. m., Experience meeting, under the direction of Retired Ministers' association. Bishop Thirkield will deliver an address.

7:30 p. m., Sermon by Bishop Herbert Welch.

The Rev. Albert S. Bowersox, up to about six months ago pastor of Western Avenue Methodist church in Toledo, was found guilty of immoral conduct by the West Ohio Methodist conference this morning and expelled from the ministry. The specifications and charges made against the minister were all sustained by the committee, which investigated the case. Twenty hours were spent by this committee in hearing testimony and investigating charges, as laid before the committee.

The Rev. Mr. Bowersox was accused of improper conduct with women members of his flock. The matter was laid before his district superintendent, the Rev. E. E. McCammon of Toledo. He at once ordered the minister to refrain from holding services the following Sunday.

Bowersox went into common pleas court and secured an injunction, permitting him to preach in the church, in defiance of the wishes of his district superintendent.

He preached several Sundays, when finally the aid of the courts was invoked and he and his family were ejected from the church parsonage. It was then that the church was finally closed to him and a substitute provided. The action which the church was compelled to conduct in court cost the amount of $50. When the matter was investigated by a preliminary committee, the amount of $30 was expended. A stenographic report of the proceedings before the committee appointed by the conference here cost $8. A collection was taken among the ministers of the conference this morning to assist in raising the $38 made necessary in arriving at the verdict in the Bowersox case.

The charges against the minister have provoked so much unfavorable comment that much discussion as to the right for an appeal to be made by the Rev. Mr. Bowersox when the same was brought up by the Rev. Daniel Carter of Perryburg, acting as legal counsel for the accused, was had. He wanted to wait until the conference should hear from Bowersox on the matter. He said the minister was now remotely situated in North Dakota and believed a reasonable time should be allowed to hear from him, before the secretary filed the report of the committee, expelling Bowersox from the ministry.

The Rev. Frank Mitchell of Sandusky, who was chairman of the investigating committee, said it took but a short time for the letter to reach the committee, after Bowersox said he left Toledo, and that his absence alone constituted his admission of guilt.

Bowersox told the committee in the letter he had gone to North Dakota to fill the pastorate of a Presbyterian church and to the end of securing the place, had to leave at once. Dr. Mitchell, in urging the matter be settled at once and that Bowersox be expelled, said: "The time has come for us to get this settled finally and the sooner, the better, for everybody concerned. Cheer after cheer greeted this utterance."

On the face of the Rev. E. E. McCammon, district superintendent, whose wishes Bowersox overrid, there was a smile as this action greeted the committee. The report was read by the secretary of the committee, the Rev. F. W. Harthan. Other members of the committee which made the investigation were J. C. Shaw, Ralph Wright, J. C. Roberts, W. W. Motter, J. W. Holland, C. C. Kennedy, H. D. Vant, C. W. Hoffman, A. H. Weaver, J. P. Olive, W. N. Shank, C. B. Yeasley and M. Yeagle. D. F. Helms and A. S. Watkins were counsel for the church. All the men on the committee represented the old Central Ohio conference save Dr. Mitchell.

New class admitted.
The class admitted into full membership in the conference this year consists of Wesley H. Bransford, Gilbert E. Edmonds, Frank W. Hoffer, William M. Gross, Charles B. Ketcham, William Reeves, Harry A. Rothrock, Christopher Stone, James T. Yocum and Cecil W. Campbell. William H. Huber, who filled the

Millions of Pennies to Be Saved Since Federal Stamp Tax Has Expired

Telegrams without the extra cent, long distance calls without having to fish around for a penny, less interest on your watch in "hook", more tobacco in the cigarette, less collar on the beer, more perfume on the air and dozens of other indicators testify today to the expiration of the so-called "war tax" passed by congress October 22, 1914. Midnight witnessed the expiration of the emergency revenue measure devised shortly after the inception of the European war to meet the deficit in the customs house receipts due to the cessation of trans-Atlantic importation.

Local bankers this morning stated that the expiration of the emergency measure would be of importance in all business circles, for while taxes were slight their payment was somewhat of a burdensome duty and involved a little trouble in each case. The original date of expiration, December 31 of last year, found the import deficit from trans-Atlantic commerce still in existence, and the time was extended to cover the present summer.

were the following: Stamp on bonds, five cents; tax on banks, per $1000 capital, surplus and undivided profits, one dollar, per $100 property involved in sale agreement, one cent; fee for brokers, $30; brokers' notes, ten cents; chewing gum, four cents per dollar box; deeds, per $100 property value, fifty cents; commission merchants, $20; freight, one cent per shipment; pawnbrokers, $50; telegrams and telephone calls costing more than fifteen cents, one cent.

Other taxes provided by the measure were as follows: Beer, $1.50 per barrel; wines, eight cents per gallon; champagne, twenty cents per quart; brandy, fifty-five cents per gallon; tickets to foreign ports, one to five dollars, varying with the distance and the price above $10; perfumes and other cosmetics, five-eighths of a cent per twenty-five cent container; public shows or exhibitions, $10; parlor car seat, sleeping car berth, dining car service, one cent; theatres, museums, concert halls, $25 to $100, varying with seating capacity; cigar manufacturers, $3 to $2500, varying with the annual output.

Judge Klinger Blames Indeterminate Sentence Law For Escape of Criminals

Fearful that an attempt might be made last night to release prisoners indicted for alleged connection with the riot last week, county and city officials took every precaution possible to guard against a jail delivery.

PASTOR SAVES BREWERY.

REEDSBURG, Wis., Sept. 9.—Rev. Farrell, a pastor of the Baptist church here, saved the city's only brewery from destruction by fire early today. Rev. Farrell awoke and saw the flames shooting up from the brewery's roof. Rushing to the telephone he aroused the owners and stuck to his task until he had formed a company of volunteers which succeeded in checking the fire.

Brewery officials said had it not been for the efforts of the minister the plant would have been destroyed.

On the face of the Rev. E. E. McCammon, district superintendent, whose wishes Bowersox overrid, there was a smile as this action greeted the committee. The report was read by the secretary of the committee, the Rev. F. W. Harthan. Other members of the committee which made the investigation were J. C. Shaw, Ralph Wright, J. C. Roberts, W. W. Motter, J. W. Holland, C. C. Kennedy, H. D. Vant, C. W. Hoffman, A. H. Weaver, J. P. Olive, W. N. Shank, C. B. Yeasley and M. Yeagle. D. F. Helms and A. S. Watkins were counsel for the church. All the men on the committee represented the old Central Ohio conference save Dr. Mitchell.

New class admitted.
The class admitted into full membership in the conference this year consists of Wesley H. Bransford, Gilbert E. Edmonds, Frank W. Hoffer, William M. Gross, Charles B. Ketcham, William Reeves, Harry A. Rothrock, Christopher Stone, James T. Yocum and Cecil W. Campbell. William H. Huber, who filled the vacation of guilt.

A rumor was circulated over the city late last night to the effect that a mob was forming in the city to storm the county jail. Officials were of the opinion that they were part of the crowd that took part in the violence last week and consequently, sympathizers of the indicted men.

To prevent any trouble a heavy guard of police were detailed on a beat in the vicinity of the court house and county jail. All persons attempting to congregate in this district were told to move on.

The home of Sheriff Eley was lighted until the early hours of the morning, so that the deputies and patrolmen stationed on the west side of the court house would be able to see the approach of any unwelcome visitors. Windows along the west side of the building were all opened and everything made ready for the heavily armed guard to prevent the approach of a mob.

Officials of the police department denied that any extra precaution was being taken to guard against trouble. One of the leaders of the night force refused to admit that the current rumor had anything to do with the watchfulness until after half an hour's questioning, when he remarked, "There might be a couple of extra men on duty tonight."

The tip first came to city officials that the mob was being organized in the telephone store house, 200 feet in the rear of the county jail. Deputies and patrolmen were stationed at advantageous points surrounding the county buildings to prevent the gathering of a mob. Several persons attempting to enter the alley were halted by armed men who stepped out of the shadows.

INDETERMINATE SENTENCES
Blamed by Klinger for Short Terms Served by Convicted Criminals.

The indeterminate sentence, mandatory in the past four or five years, is a handicap which binds the trial judge in criminal cases, according to Judge William Klinger, now serving his eighth year as common pleas judge of Allen county. The growing prevalence of mob spirit and disregard for law, he added, is due to the fact that the extreme clemency of recent years, with pardons galore and paroles for good behavior and commuted sentences, has led the public to expect guilty persons to escape with light punishment.

"The chances are that a majority of the members of the crowd that wanted to lynch the negro Daniels, last week voted against the capital punishment in 1912," said Judge Klinger. "There is a growing tendency to submit to maudlin sentiment, the result being that it is getting harder every year for prosecutors to convict the guilty. Jurors are often inclined to stretch a point for the accused, and when a judge sentences a convicted prisoner today he knows that the man will never serve the full time."

"In 1912, when the constitutional amendments were up for adoption or rejection, one of the 49 called for abolition of the death penalty. At that time the vote against capital punishment was a big one. I recall that at the time I had sentenced 45 men, in my five years on the bench, to life imprisonment—and all of them were out of the penitentiary."

"When I was prosecutor the average term served out by life termers was about eight years. Today it is less. Petitions are circulated by the friends of the convict, and after several years the board of pardons harkens to the call of the petitioner."

and the man goes out on parole.

"Personally, I favor capital punishment. There are crimes for which no other sentence could be adequate. The modern trend of public opinion, however, is for clemency. The result is that so many men have been getting off easily after atrocious crimes that the number of mobs who were trying to find Daniels the other night desired to lynch him because they felt that the law would not be severe enough on him. They never stopped to consider the handicaps which recent legislation has placed in the road of justice.

The judge cannot give a definite sentence for a crime in Ohio today, even first degree murder having the alternatives of electrocution and life term. The terms are based at the discretion of the judge and in the statehouse God behavior laps off a few months or years, and the terms run one to twenty or one to ten or the like. Then the state board of administration, in control of state institutions, adds pardon after pardon to the list. The state board of pardon is under the other body. The result of the modern system is, therefore, one to discourage prosecutors, to hinder sentencing judges, and to account for the growth of mob rule which results from distrust of law."

UP TO TRIAL JUDGE.

Change of Venue Rests With Court Except in Rare Cases.

Except in rare cases where abuse of discretion is proved before the reviewing court, changes of venue rest with the trial judge, said Judge Phil Crow of the court of appeals today.

Summers that some of the sixteen jurors for the purpose of lynching would apply for changes of venue have brought the law on this point into general interest. According to Judge Crow, the matter is entirely with the common sense judge unless a complete proof of abuse of discretion is made before the reviewing court. "I recall a case in which 1200 affidavits declared the Keaton jurist. It was attorney for a man indicted for a criminal offense and showed the late Judge Beaton G. Young of Marion that a change of venue would be refused to secure a fair trial. He refused to see it that way, in the face of 1200 affidavits which I had collected to support my motion. His idea was that the accused could get a fair trial and that he was going to see it done.

"Down to the eleventh juror there was little controversy. The twelfth came up for examination and I threw a few questions at him to draw out his sentiments, if he had any which would disqualify him. I inquired whether or not the tall man had harbored any inclination toward an idea of my client's guilt or innocence. Quick as a flash he replied: 'I never had the slightest doubt of his guilt.'

"Judge Long banged down his gavel and admitted that he had been wrong in denying a change of venue and ordered one. But the story merely serves to illustrate the almost absolute control of the trial judge over the venue motions. Only when the reviewing court holds the discretionary powers abused can the first court's decision be overruled.

DR. HUNT, LOW MAN IN CONGRESS FIGHT, IS ADJUDGED INSANE

Piqua Candidate - Sharpshooter Taken to Dayton State Hospital.

Novel Methods and Rabid Remarks During Campaign First Symptoms.

Dr. Francis Marion Hunt, the Piqua physician who ran fifth in the recent race for the fourth district democratic congressional nomination, is now in an insane asylum. He was taken to the Dayton state hospital yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Barnett and Chief of Police Gehle of Piqua.

Dr. Hunt was taken into custody yesterday morning after alarming the neighborhood in which he resides, near the corner of Broadway and Ash street in Piqua. He had refused to admit his wife, who wanted to get clothes for a trip to Cleveland with her son.

The physician voluntarily submitted to commitment to the Dayton hospital for the insane. He was taken before Probate Judge L. E. St. John and examined by two specialists. Both were of the opinion that he should be confined in an asylum. He was taken to Dayton last night.

The conduct of Dr. Hunt in the recent congressional campaign convinced most of those who met him that he was mentally unbalanced. Personally he handed out more than 40,000 campaign cards, his aggressive nature taking him into every corner of the district. Before August he freely predicted that he would get twice as many votes as Welty, Cunningham, Riddle and Studevant combined. His platform was that he hoped to help settle the war, and he expressed radical views on the liquor and suffrage questions. He prided himself on being a phenomenal rifle shot and a skillful chess player, his pride in both cases being justified by the facts. Professionally he is understood to be normal, his conversation being rational in discussing medical questions.

By endorsing a patent medicine Dr. Hunt attracted widespread publicity. His novel means of securing free advertising calling for comment throughout the state press. This method was pronounced clever because the candidate was paid, not the payer, in this case.

In addition to carrying his home town of Piqua, Dr. Hunt ran third in Miami county, leading Studevant by one vote. This total in the district was 1923. In Allen county he received 113 votes, most of them from Lima.

Taxes in Lima are going to mount just ten mills on the dollar for the next year, according to County treasurer Tassing. With a rate of 1.22 per thousand for the past year, the jump will make the rate 1.32.

This increase is due to the heavy bond issues of the last year, the triple bond issue of 1914 adding a total of $750,000 to the bonded indebtedness of the city. The only persons who will be hit by the jump are the big property owners, with taxes already heavy.

FOOD TOBACCO AND CLOTHING TAKEN BY HUNGRY BURGLARS

Antonis Vastano, who conducts a store of general merchandise at the corner of Fourth street and the C. & D. railroad, discovered when he opened the store this morning at 5:30, that he was minus a great many articles.

According to the story told by Vastano this morning at police headquarters, the thief or thieves entered the back door and helped themselves to the stock. Empty bottles and cans showed that they had disposed of seven or eight cans of sardines, about five pies, and close to six bottles of "pop." They made their getaway with about one-half dozen pairs of overalls, four shirts, two dozen packages of tobacco, four dozen pairs of canvas gloves, 40 pennies, which had been deposited in a tin cup, and probably many articles.

Vastano did not report the case to police headquarters until about four hours after he had discovered his loss. Police are of the opinion that it was the work of some hoboes.

MASKED BANDITS GETS $12,000; KILL MINING MANAGER

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 19.—Lee Rankin, superintendent of the Y. and O. Coal Company at Florence, Belmont County, Ohio, was fatally shot this forenoon by two masked bandits who fled after the shooting with $12,000 with which Rankin was preparing to pay the company's employees. Rankin died a short time later at the Martin's Ferry hospital.

Rankin was on his way to the mine in a taxicab. The following account of the robbery was given by Oliver Pickens, Rankin's chauffeur.

"We were going through a deep cut just west of Martin's Ferry when two men stepped into the road. They flourished guns and ordered us to halt.

"I threw on the brakes. Before the car came to a stop, Rankin grabbed the money and dashed for the wood beside the road.

"One of the men gave an order in a foreign tongue. He kept me covered while the other turned and shot several times at Rankin.

"Rankin fell just at the edge of the wood. The men grabbed the money he carried and rushed away into the woods."

One of the bullets severed an artery in Rankin's back and he died just as he reached the Martin's Ferry hospital, where he was taken by Pickens.

Pickens' story is confirmed by Earl Brown, who was near the scene of the murder in a buggy. Sheriff Bulder and Chief of Police Hyland at once organized five posse or men. The posses are scouting the country in search for the robbers.

Notices to watch for the men were sent to Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania towns.

Rankin was city treasurer and formerly treasurer of sub-district association of miners at Martin's Ferry.

He was married and hopeless. For ten years I was bothered with kidney trouble," writes T. F. Hutchins, Little Rock, Ark. "I was worried and had almost given up all hopes. I used five boxes of Foley Kidney Pills and am now a well man." H. F. Kortkamp, in the

ELKS' CLAM BAKE TO BE FEAST OF EPICUREAN MERIT

Annual Celebration Will Take Place Wednesday, Rain or Shine.

Chef Sipple, of New Jersey, Here to Boss Sea Food Banquet.

Wednesday of next week will be the annual banner day for five or six hundred local and visiting members of the B. P. O. Elks, for on that day Lima Lodge No. 54, will hold the big annual clam bake. The Elks are not superstitious, for the date chosen for the big event of this year is the thirteenth. Even rain will not prevent the day's program from being carried out, for the picnic grounds will be well provided with buildings and tents for shelter.

Chef John Sipple, of the North Wildwood (New Jersey) Yacht club, who always has charge of the big bakes for both Lima and Columbus Elks, and for a number of other lodges and similar organizations, is now in the city, a guest at the Hotel Manhattan, and on Monday morning, with members of the clam bake committee and a corps of employed assistants will take charge of the work of preparing for the feast of sea foods and other seasonable "eats" that will be prepared for the outing.

Jos. T. Kauffmann, member of the local committee, has just returned from Rockland, Maine, and Baltimore, Md., where he completed all arrangements for the shipping of an express car load of lobsters, clams, oysters and blue fish, which will make up the bake. Steward "Bill" Nye, of the Elks' Club, has also made contracts here for the supplies of potatoes, roasting ears, chickens and other home products that will be served in addition to the sea foods.

The present indications are that the attendance at the outing this year will be even greater than on any previous year, for the fame of Lima lodge for holding successful bakes has traveled far and wide. John W. Kauffmann, dean of Columbus lodge, will arrive from the capital city on Tuesday with a party of about 40 guests, for whom reservations have already been made at local hotels, and there will also be a number of parties here from Toledo, Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, and from all of the cities of northwestern Ohio and eastern Indiana. There will be in attendance, also, a large party of Elks who are traveling with the One Hundred and One Ranch, which will show here on the day following the big bake. This party will be chaperoned by Messrs. Harry Myers and George Tipton, Lima men who are with the show. One of the distinguished members of this party will be none other than Col. William P. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," who is one of the feature attractions with the show. Kenton will be represented by a large delegation and the Elks' baseball team of Kenton will play a game with the Lima Elks' team, weather permitting.

A band of 18 local musicians and a number of singers and other entertainers have been engaged for the day and the band will lead the big parade which will start from the Elks' Home at 9 o'clock, Wednesday morning. Instead of receiving a badge at the home before the parade starts, this year, each member holding a ticket will be presented with a purple and white felt hat, to be worn in the parade and at the picnic grounds.

The day's program will include a number of new features of entertainment, now being arranged by the committee, in addition to the following:

Clam Bake Committee—Jos. Kauffmann, Henry Steinhil, H. N. Lamberton, George Barnett, W. C. Fridley, Lloyd Applas, L. N. Pangile, Meda Shenk, George Kahle, W. E. Nye, J. W. Beall.

GEORGETOWN, QUANT OLD PLACE, NOW IS PART OF WASHINGTON

Was Important City Before
National Capital Was Imagined.

Ships of Every Nation Low-

on Potomac

By Frederic J. Haskin.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—Georgetown was a city of importance before Washington was imagined, and although now a part of the capital it still retains a most distinctive individuality. There are few historical cities that look the part so well. The narrow cobbled streets are generously shaded by old oaks and sycamores, and lined with houses older still, many of them opening their front doors directly upon the curb, others set conservatively back among the trees, and some splendidly isolated in the midst of wide grounds. There are whole blocks of houses that have been over a century of the city's life.

For a long time, both before the revolution and after, Georgetown was one of the leading cities of the United States. It was a great port, and the waters of the Potomac were bright with sails from every country in the world. It was also a center of the tobacco business, and Rock Creek, then a navigable channel was lined with high-rafterd warehouses, sweet with the fragrance of the leaf and the twittering of swallows.

After the founding of Washington, the importance of the older city was for a time enhanced rather than diminished; for senators, congressmen and diplomats all came there to live. There were few notables of late colonial and revolutionary days who did not live in Georgetown at some time. Benjamin Franklin was manager of the post office in 1776, when there were only 75 post offices in the United States, and it often cost 35 cents to send a letter, the rate being according to the distance.

Lafayette was entertained in Georgetown. President Jefferson lived there for a while, and his house still stands. In a later day Calhoun and Webster made their homes in the old city. But to recite the notables who have dwelt in Georgetown would be a lengthy process and of less interest than the many important things that happened there, and the lives and customs of the old Georgetown people. The city itself is a mine of such information, for descendants of many of the old families still live there, and cherish and tell the stories that have come down to them through generations. Some of them have written books, and of special interest is a volume by Sally Somervell Mackall, from which some of these incidents are taken.

Most of the townspeople were of Scotch descent and owned great estates in Maryland, while making their homes in Georgetown. Thus Samuel Maffitt, who was justice of the peace at Georgetown about a hundred years ago, owned 8,000 acres, and it was his pride that he produced everything consumed by his family upon his own land. He had his own turning mill, grist mill, wool factory and blacksmith shop, manned by his own slaves. George Washington Parke Curtis, grandson-in-law of George Washington, was another owner of very extensive lands, and is said to have held no less than 2,000 slaves. Although he spent most of his life riding over his estates, he had both lands and negroes that he had never seen.

The home of these landlords in Georgetown were among the finest of the old colonial houses. One of them, Tudor House, built by Thomas Peter in 1806, is still occupied by the family and its original appearance carefully preserved. It stands in the center of large grounds, set with old fashioned box hedges, and shaded by wide oaks. The house is an imposing pile with the high pillared verandas and long French windows of its period. One of its prizes is a palm over a century old which was brought back as a souvenir by Thomas Peter and his wife when they went on a journey to Philadelphia. They made the trip in their own carriage and it took four days.

Very perfect accounts of how people lived in those days may be had from their descendants in Georgetown. The men spent most of their time riding over the immense estates. The women were even more busy, for they had to make their own cloth and soap, were the medical and spiritual advisers of all their slaves and usually the mothers of large families. Yet there was much social life. Dinners and dances were of frequent occurrence, the former usually taking place in the late afternoon, while the old square dances occupied the evenings. Elaborate designs were painted in bright colors on the floor under the cut glass chandeliers, and there the colonial dames and gallants bowed and prouetted. Even the most affluent of the young women usually made their own dancing slippers from satin, and it was always considered a proof of popularity when a debutante succeeded in dancing

"through her shoes" in one evening.

All of the shoes, for that matter, were made on the estates, usually by negro shoemakers, and they were rather poor footgear, the result was that nobody walked; it wasn't considered good form, unless one was going only a very short distance, and in that case a slave walked before with a lantern, for this leading American city had no street lamps. Its police force consisted of a number of night watchmen who patrolled the streets and called out "All's Well" at every hour.

Marriage was a very formal matter in those days. The young man made his proposals not to his chosen one, but to his father. It is suspected that this rule has been broken, but from the time of the betrothal everything was done according to formula. For one month before her marriage day, the bride did not go out and saw no men except her affianced. The wedding always took place on a Wednesday morning. On Thursday morning the groom gave a dinner for all his made friends, the women being rigidly excluded, and on Friday the bride similarly entertained her friends. On Saturday there was a general entertainment and on Sunday the entire wedding party went to church. This form of procedure was invariably followed for a long period.

Georgetown reached the heyday of its glory soon after the founding of Washington. The capital was nothing but a swamp, and the brilliant society which gathered about it found a home in the older city. This infusion of diplomats from all parts of the world and politicians from all parts of the country into the quiet life of the old Maryland city gave rise to many romantic events. It was at this time that the Russian Ambassador, Do Rodice, fell in love with a little Georgetown girl of humble parentage named Williams. Although he was an old man, and the girl but 16 years old and very slightly educated, the diplomat insisted upon marrying her. The Georgetown girl, however, proved wholly equal to the situation. When her aged husband died, she courageously went to Russia alone and spent the rest of her life in Europe.

There were also sinister phases of this curiously mixed society which gathered in Georgetown. A few miles away in Maryland near Blandensburg, was a duelling ground made famous by numerous fatal conflicts, and by the fact that one of the last American duels took place there. The encounter was between Jonathan Cilley, a democratic congressman from Maine, and William J. Graves, a whig from Kentucky. Its cause was as unimportant as is usual in the case of duels. Cilley had alleged in a speech that a journalist named Webb had accepted a bribe. Graves brought Cilley a challenge from Webb; but Cilley refused to fight the newspaperman on the ground that he was "no gentleman." Graves got over this difficulty by challenging Cilley himself, this apparently being required by the ethics of the situation, although there was no real quarrel between Graves and Cilley. This was in February, 1838. The weapons used were rifles at 80 yards—a most unusual sort of a duel. After each shot the seconds asked the combatants if they were satisfied, but Cilley refused to yield. At the third round he fell mortally wounded. It was after this event that the duelling act was passed, making it a crime to carry or accept a challenge in the District of Columbia.

These exciting days in old Georgetown passed with the upbuilding of Washington. The requirement of foreign governments that their representatives live in the city took away the diplomats, and a little later the same rule was made to apply to congressmen and senators. With the civil war came hard times. Most of the people who dwelt in Georgetown were southern sympathizers; many of them left their homes during the war, and returned to them after having lost all their wealth. More than one proud mansion became a boarding house. But the bitter feelings that grew out of the war healed with time, and old Georgetown finally became, what she is today, a part of Washington and one of its most attractive residential districts.

POLICE BELIEVE GIRL'S STORY IN NEW YORK AUTO MURDER CASE

MISS MARY McNIFF.

NEW YORK—After careful investigation, the New York police believe the story told by Miss Mary McNiff, the young woman who was riding in an automobile with Dwight P. Dilworth, the Montclair, N. J., lawyer, who was shot and killed in Van Cortlandt park.

The circumstances found by the police in their preliminary investigation tally with the description of the shooting given by Miss McNiff, who said that two highwaymen came up to the stalled car and shot Dilworth when he refused to hand over his money and valuables. She is unable to give a clear description of the two men.

violates this sacred trust, he desecrates his vow to God. I implore you to avoid the very appearance of evil."

Bishop Thirkield urged them to be grave men, not grave-yard men. He said the man who went from charge to charge, with a train of rumors following in his path, either manifested no common sense, showed a lack of prudence or violated the principles as laid down by Jesus Christ in his conduct toward his fellow-men. Bishop Thirkield gave out the assurance that he would not tolerate, in any manner, any of the woman's evil into which a minister might become entangled. He gave the newly-received ministers a heart-to-heart talk.

"The flexibility of Methodism and the unlimited bounds of our worldwide organization is shown," said Bishop Thirkield, "in the receiving of C. Ray Brice as a deacon into this conference and his ordination in the Canal Zone." He is engaged in the duties of chaplain in the navy. He was formerly engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in the Delaware district. He was not present at the conference.

Interested in the question which each minister was asking himself and the cabinet, and the cabinet and no district superintendent. For with the three church trials now out of the way and the question uppermost in the minds of the ministers and that is to know where each will serve next year.

The bishop and cabinet are meeting every afternoon at Trinity church, adjusting the appointments and trying to satisfy the various congregations. As yet, but little can be gained on their deliberations. The appointments will be read at the Monday morning session. The conference closes with that session.

Bishop Thirkield continued his talk on "The Ministry of Intercession," at the opening of this morning's session. Bishop Herbert Welch, formerly of Delaware, Ohio, and recently elevated to the position of bishop, gave an address, "The Relation of the Pastor to Social Service," just before the noon hour.

Ministers' Wives Are Here.

Wives of ministers have arrived in large numbers for the Sunday session of the conference and for their enjoyment a meeting was planned at Trinity church this afternoon from 4:30 o'clock until 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. M. M. Figley, wife of the superintendent of Lima district, presided at the meeting. Refreshments were an interesting feature, when the women enjoyed their fellowship.

With James Gamble, of soap fame, presiding, the anniversary of the conference deaconess board was celebrated this afternoon. In Olivet Presbyterian church the work of the deaconesses was discussed by representatives of the Elizabeth Gamble home, who are here attending the conference. They have an exhibit of interest to every one at Olivet church and tomorrow evening the service at beneficial to the laboring man and that the principal of the organization is right; that the laboring man is sincere and when treated right is a friend of all. "The laboring man," said Mr. Allen, "thinks more of the welfare of his employer than the capitalist does of his employee."

Discussing the power of money and ability, he said that ability is the greatest. That ability with the passion for things creates the interest in the future and commands the power. He closed his address by declaring that no matter how much ability or money a person may possess, unless it is used to the best interest of humanity and service to God it amounts to naught.

Swayne Delivers Talk.

Following Mr. Allen's address, two selections were given by a men's quartet. Mr. Plate introduced the Hon. Charles L. Swayne, of Cincinnati, speaker of the house of representatives at Columbus. Mr. Swayne spoke for the laboring man, having been working with them as counsel for some years and learned facts by experience.

He said that labor organizations of today are far above that of years ago and that labor leaders are struggling for the highest ideals. The union man does not believe in the destruction of property, but his principal is for the construction. He said that some corporations are selfish and in trying to keep labor in control go to extremes. At the same time he gave credit to those who have given the union man a fair deal.

Mr. Swayne said that neither labor nor capital alone can do things, but they must go together. It is the loyalty of labor to capitalism that makes the capitalist and without labor capital could not be, and if there is no capital there would be no labor. He made a strong plea for the harmony of capital and labor for the better and more prosperous life.

A ladies' quartet gave a number and following this Mr. Allen, who is president of the Laymen's association, took charge of the session. He introduced James Gamble, soap manufacturer of Cincinnati, as one of the greatest Methodist laymen in the conference. Mr. Gamble told of the harmony between the laboring man and his corporation at his factory.

Conference Echoes.

The Rev. M. C. Howey, who has for four years served Epworth Methodist church in Lima, is said to be slated for return to this church for another year.

The Rev. G. B. Wiltzie, pastor at Leipsic, who has served at Delphos and other prominent charges in the Central Ohio conference, is a candidate for elevation to district superintendent. Otherwise, he may be sent back to Leipsic.

The Rev. J. A. Spyker, who last year was assigned to Second street Methodist church, expects to be given a much better pastorate this year. In the west he held a position of responsibility and power with the church there and the conference will, it is said, recognize his ability this year. He may, however, be assigned to Lima.

Receipts of the Woman's Home Missionary society in the various districts of the conference the past year, were:

Cincinnati, $7,358; Dayton, $3,352; Defiance, $1,719; Delaware, $2,899; Findlay, $2,135; Hillsboro, $1,007; Lima, $2,320; Springfield, $2,504; and Toledo, $1,860, a total of $26,798.

GARFORD SYNDICATE CLUB IN SESSION

One hundred and fifty members of the Garford Syndicate club met at luncheon today at the Lima House, and at two-thirty the party left for a two days' outing at Orchard Island, making the trip by motor. The club consists of the manufacturers' representatives selling Garford supplies and materials, and is undoubtedly the largest gathering of its kind ever assembled in Lima.

The party will be entertained at Orchard Island tonight and tomorrow, returning to Lima Sunday afternoon.

SHIPBUILDERS TO DISCUSS IMPORTANT REGULATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Forty of the leading American shipbuilders, presidents and general managers of principal steamship companies, have been invited by Secretary of Commerce Redfield to assemble here on Sept. 27, for an exchange of views on the subject of loadlines and bulkheads, and other phases of construction of steamers on the ocean and the Great Lakes.

Practically every nation has regulations governing loadline except the United States. The rapid growth of the American fleet of ocean cargo carriers, Secretary Redfield said, has made it imperative that American shipbuilders take decisive action, in line with the steps suggested by the international conference at London. At this conference American delegates had an important part in framing the chapters of the international convention.

power to call a general sympathetic strike in all trades if such action is deemed necessary to help the striking traction employees gain recognition of their union in the struggle with the Interborough Rapid Transit and New York Railways company. This action was taken after an all-night session at the Labor temple during which the traction companies were assailed for their threat to destroy the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees.

This threat of a sympathetic strike by the Central Federated Union and the announcement by the New York Railways Company that strikebreakers will be used on its surface lines made this—the third day of the strike—a cruel period in the struggle.

James L. Quackenbush, general counsel for the Interborough announced today that the traction strike would be carried to the courts. He gave notice that applications for injunctions restraining labor leaders from interfering with the men operating the "L" subway and surface lines would be filed within a few hours.

"Our men," said Mr. Quackenbush, "are being intimidated and threatened all along the lines by striking carmen or their leaders. In order to end this condition everything will be done in a legal way. Temporary injunctions will be sought against certain of the strike leaders who are engineering the attacks on our cars and men."

Four hours after the surface cars started running today the traction officials claimed that 60 men had returned to work, abandoning the strike because they believed it a failure. It was stated that the number of surface cars running today was considerably larger than that operated yesterday. Union leaders were anxiously awaiting an answer to their appeal to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor to come to New York and take a hand in the situation. They sent this appeal to Washington, only to learn that Gompers was campaigning in Maine, and that he was not expected back before Tuesday.

CLEVELAND—Catholic schools in the Cleveland diocese show an increased enrollment over last year, Rev. William A. Kane, superintendent of the diocese, announced today. He reported a total enrollment of 35,000 for this year.

ELYRIA—The grape crop in this section of Ohio will be light this fall, but the grapes will have a good flavor, vineyard growers reported today. Cooler weather for the next few weeks will have the effect of protecting the grapes from worms.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH MISSION TO OPEN SUNDAY MORNING

The Franciscan Fathers, whose headquarters are in Syracuse, N. Y., will open a mission on Sunday forenoon at St. John's Catholic church on South Main street. The mission is for parishioners of St. John's and Catholic people of the city.

The Rev. Father Richard Murphy and the Rev. Father Fridolin Stabile, ablest speakers afforded for this purpose, have arrived in the city and will conduct the mission, which will last for two weeks. The first week will be for women and the second week for men.

The Rev. Father John Mizer, pastor of St. John's church, was in Carey this week and brought the missionaries to this city. They are the same branch of workers as are stationed at the shrine of Our Lady of Consolation at Carey and have been spending a few days with the Rev. Father Fish, pastor at Carey, and his assistant, the Rev. Father Hodock. These two pastors will come from Carey to attend the mission here.

The mission is a course of sermons on the eternal truths and of instructions on the principal duties of Christians, preached by priests especially destined and trained for this object. The young boys and girls of the parish as well as the older ones, will be present at the masses. The mission will open with the 10 o'clock mass tomorrow.

The object of the mission as stated by Father Mizer is to reclaim those who have strayed away from the practice of their religious duties or who are addicted to some vice; also to enable all who are in the state of sin to make their peace with God by a good and sincere confession; to rouse the careless and the indifferent to a life of fervor; and to increase the fervor of the good and enable them to persevere until death in the grace of God.

OLD VETERAN BEGS TO DO WOMEN'S WORK FOR VICTORY

LONDON, Sept. 9.—So eager is a British army veteran living in a lend-on-Tyne to help in the war that he is willing to do women's work. He writes to a newspaper which has appeared for 10,000 women to do Red Cross needlework: "I am not a woman, but I have knitted two pairs of socks. The wool is of the best and cost five shillings ($12.50), but I want to do something for the benefit of the Red Cross. I am 72 years of age in November, and have served my time in the army and am a pensioner since December, 1882. If you will let me be a woman in this show I shall feel much obliged."

Sunday School Forum.

1. What are the steps in planning a lesson?
First, the lesson must be selected with the main truth that must be impressed; the second step is to prepare the way for presentation of the lesson which involves arousing the interest of the pupils and connecting the experience of the pupil with the truth to be impressed; the third step is to introduce the material of the lesson which can be done by the story method, questions, discussions, pictures, etc., the fourth step is the lesson expressed which involves the restatement of the truth of the lesson in the actual deed of living."

"But I will walk upon the wooded hill
Where stands a grove, O pines, of sister pines,
And when the downy twilight droops her wing,
And no sea glimmers and no mountain shines,
My heart shall listen still,
For pines are gossip pines the wide world through,
And full of rumble tales to sigh and sing:
'Tis ever sweet through pines to see the sky
Blushing a deeper gold or darker blue.
'Tis ever sweet to be
On the dry carpet of the needles brown;
And while the fateful green hards stir,
And windy odors light as thistle down,
Breathe from the ladanum and lavender,
Half to forget the wandering and pain,
Half to remember days that have gone by,
And dream and dream that I am home again."
—James E. Fiecker: The Pines.

Does Such a Thing As Faith Exist?

Beatrice Fairfax Asks Her Readers to Believe That It Does.

"I NEVER had a chance. I'm unlucky," says the weakling. But long before you and I were born the weakling was answered by a wise man of Greece. Democritus said, "One's character is one's fate." So, after all, the only good fortune a man may have is the good fortune to be well born in that he comes from sane and healthy stock. And whether or not he does, any man who is brave and strong and willing to exert himself may make for himself a splendid fate.

The men who have gone their glorious way to place and power in our country have not been sons of ease and luxury. The man whose path lies smooth before him is very likely to stumble, while he who has sharp rocks and grim precipices to surmount is likely to become so strong through struggle that he is ever more able to climb smilingly and bravely over any difficulty nature may put in his path.

Every day one meets men and women who started with the most tragic handicaps of poverty or ill health or unfortunate environment—even with a cruel heredity. But something strong and dauntless that was in them made them brave to fight and their courage brought them to the top.

"One's character is one's fate," not what life offers you—but what you are brave enough and strong enough to take from life determines your position. There is no doom that can befall you uninvited by your own self. What you get from life you win from life.

Whining and whimpering about ill luck is the greatest ill luck that can befall you. Bravely making for yourself opportunity and good fortune is your supreme chance for success.

Thousands of Housewives Helped us make the A-B Gas Range

The reason the A-B Gas Range is the most wonderful Gas Range ever produced anywhere is the simplest in the world.

Mr. Alexander (now deceased) and Mr. Berry (note the A-B) were for fifteen years high salaried Salesmen for one of the older gas range companies.

They traveled all over the country; arranged demonstrations, educated gas companies and retail dealers on cooking with gas.

They visited homes, hundreds of them, and got the ideas of intelligent housewives.

Sifting out and sorting the ideas of these thousands of housewives, they decided that certain improvements were vital and necessary.

But they couldn't get their employers to make such costly changes.

So they started the A-B Stove Company and worked into the A-B Stoves all the features that they knew the intelligent women of the country wanted.

One of the first improvements was the white enamel trimmed stoves, white panels, white enamel dirt tray and broiler pan; then aluminum ovens—then the all-white gas range; then the glass oven door; then the illuminated oven, and so on.

And, sure enough, the old fellows, after storming at their salesmen and dealers for a year or so, did improve their stoves by copying (usually in a half-hearted way) the novel features of the A-B line.

So the intelligent men and women, the labor-lightened maids, and every member of every family, has good reason to thank two young men for emancipation from a lot of drudgery and the escape from a lot of real danger to health.

Mrs. M. Annett, of Boston, Mrs. John West and Miss Ida Barrett, of Bellefontaine, are guests of Mr. W. L. Mackenzie.

ANECDOTES OF THE FAMOUS.

A good story is told concerning Canon Carnegie, the new chaplain of the house of commons.

It relates to the time when he was working as a curate in the east end of London.

He was preaching to a congregation largely composed, so far as the men were concerned, of water-side laborers, and his subject was "Fasting."

"Of course," he said, "many of you men, earning your living as you do by hard and exhausting toil, cannot be expected to deny yourself food. But you can fast in another way, and I do urge you to do this—spare yourself the use of strong language."

After this sermon Mr. Carnegie was passing out of the church, when he overheard one of his late congregation remark: "That was a good sermon the parson preached, Bill."

"—good," was Bill's too emphatic rejoinder.

A cold does not get well of itself. The process of wearing out a cold wears you out, and your cough becomes serious if neglected. Hackling coughs drain the energy and sap the vitality. CUT DOWN ON VALETS FOR FRENCH OFFICERS.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—French officers serving in the rear of the great battle line are to be relieved of their oracles. In lieu of these worthless, the servantless ones will receive 20 francs ($4) per week, expendable on the service of an auxiliary valet, whose duties it will be to wait not on one but several officers. The economy in men thus obtained, utilizable in more pressing work, is said to be equivalent to several divisions. The new ministerial order will not affect combatant officers, however, who will enjoy the exclusive call upon the services of a man-servant. These latter are to be fighters while in the trenches and orderlies when necessity calls.

LOCOMOTIVE RUNS BALER.

Not deterred by failure to get electric current or ordinary steam boilers for operating a hay baling plant, an eastern war contractor purchased a 27-year-old locomotive from a railroad and set it up to supply the needed power.

To get the proper draft it was necessary to extend the smokestack to a height of 35 feet. The balers which are operated in this novel way are employed in preparing 50,000 tons of hay for the horses of the allied armies.

The hay contractor selected a site in Philadelphia and began setting up his machinery with the idea of running it electrically. Unforeseen engineering difficulties, however, made it impractical to operate the machinery with electricity, and instead the obsolete engine was secured to furnish power.—Popular Mechanics.

FRENCH OPEN HOTEL SCHOOL TO KEEP OUT THE GERMANS

PARIS, Sept. 9.—Before the war the hotels of Paris were in the hands of 15,000 foreigners, mostly Germans. Why this particular industry should have been monopolized by Teutons is a point that has lately occupied the Association of French Hotel Proprietors.

The association has decided to create a hotel school, in which everything pertaining to the culinary and general hostelry arts will be taught. No charge is to be made to serious "students," the whole science of hotel keeping being freely imparted in the hope that France may once more come into her hotelian domains, so long held by her present bitter enemy. It is also proposed to open a hotel school for women, carrying the same curriculum privileges.

EAST LIVERPOOL.—A recount of the votes in the republican county commission election in the August primary, showed that John H. Hinchcliffe, of Lisbon, won by one vote over John F. Kerr, of Solineville.

PHILADELPHIA.—Arrested for trap shooting, which charge he denied, Samuel Price accepted an offer from magistrate Imber to "roll" for his freedom. The magistrate rolled four and Price rolled six and was freed.

Paris Favors the Dress of Two Materials

Combinations of Velvet and Cloth or Satin and Serge Are Considered Very Smart. The Handbag an Important Dress Accessory.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Women of fashion are, today, greatly interested in the "two material" dresses. Has not Paris sanctioned them and put forth some of her best efforts in the fashioning of new versions of them for the coming season? No, it is not only the economical woman with an eye to making over her last winter's dress who looks with approval on this style. To be sure, she may take advantage of it, for this fashion holds great possibilities for her; but, needless to say, it was not originally planned for her.

One-Piece Frock of Cloth and Satin.

Combinations of materials are used in dresses of widely different character; quite as often in the one-piece frock for street as in the dress required for more formal wear. Of the first type is the smart dress of cloth and satin illustrated here. There is a suggestion of the military influence in this dress, too, which accounts for a part of its charm, as things military are still a source of inspiration to fashion designers. Perhaps it is the orderly row of buttons placed straight down the front, perhaps it is the four pockets with rounded laps, or yet it may be the shoulder cape, or all of these together, that give the soldierly tinge to this dress. One can readily imagine the design developed in satin and serge, velvet and cloth, velvet and satin, or any one of these materials in two tones. A light and a dark shade of gray silk have been used very successfully by Parisian designers in such a dress as this. They have even combined two different colors, such as tan and brown, dark green and gray, and mahogany and gray. But the amateur should beware of combining two colors unless they are in perfect harmony, for the result may be vastly different from what the hands of an experienced combiner of colors would produce.

In dresses for formal wear, one sees other combinations. A white Georgette crepe blouse in Russian style was combined with a black satin skirt and the blouse was edged with a wide band of black satin. There was a shoulder cape of white Georgette edged with fur, which trimming also finished the long sleeves. Another dress seen had a blouse of Copenhagen blue chiffon, also in Russian style, worn over a skirt of blue velvet the same shade. Fur edged the blouse.

Another detail of fashion which is making a strong appeal to the well-dressed woman is the use of colored embroidery as a dress trimming. An example is shown on the illustration here of a one-piece dress with cartilage belt. Many of these dresses are seen in dark blue or black serge or satin with gray wool embroidery. In some, the hem of the skirt is fur-trimmed.

Wool Embroidery is a Fashionable Trimming.

ther decorated with a wool fringe matching the embroidery and hanging from the lower edge. Other ambrodery designs are carried out in Bulgarian colors in wool or silk, or in steel thread and also in gold thread. The two latter are especially effective on dark green, navy blue or black.

Fancy Handbags.

A fashionable woman does not consider her costume complete today without a dainty fancy handbag, which she dangles from a long ribbon or cord. Sometimes it takes the form of the old-fashioned reticule grandmother used to wear hanging from her belt. In this instance the bag is almost always made from the same material as the dress. But there are numerous other forms and shapes of this important accessory, which, if it does not exactly match the costume should, in any event, harmonize with it. Some very attractive ones are of black velvet with steel beads or of moire with colored beads, and some fluffy little creations are entirely of ruffles of ribbon.

In crocheted bags there is quite an attractive new style worked in various bright colors forming solid rows that go round and round. The bags are round, and longer than they are wide. The top is drawn together on a cord run through rings, and the bottom is finished with a long tassel. In velvet and silk bags there are a number of odd, irregular shapes as well as oval and round ones.

Could Not Do Her Cooking.

Mrs. F. E. Hartmeister, Tea, Mo., writes: "I was afflicted with kidney trouble for two years. I got so bad this summer I could hardly do my cooking. I got Foley Kidney Pills and I feel like a new person." Too many women neglect symptoms of kidney derangement, weak back, swollen ankles and joints, aches, pains and rheumatism. H. E. SWEDISH TROOPS SEND $250 TO GERMAN WAR WIDOWS.

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—For the first time since the beginning of the war a neutral military body has openly given expression to sympathy for Germany. In the villages of Bornhoeved, near Kiel, where the Swedes defeated the Danish army December 7, 1813, an "Iron cross" (of wood) was erected recently to raise money for the widows and orphans of soldiers and crippled war veterans of the district.

The first golden nail driven into the cross came from the Swedish crown prince Hussars at Malmoe. With the nail the commander of the regiment, Colonel Baron Cederstroem, in the name of his officers and soldiers, sent a gold medal, a check for $250 and the following letter:

"The officers of the Crown Prince Hussars and myself deeply regret that we cannot be present at the unveiling of the Iron Cross of Bornhoeved. We all would have come, if this had been possible, because we love and honor our brave field gray comrades. Permit me to present a nail and medal for your cross, as a token of our sympathies. I also enclose one thousand marks ($250) for your war sufferers and crippled heroes. Our thoughts are always with you. God protect you and your dear fatherland. "Baron Cederstroem, Colonel."

JAPANESE CRITICISE NEW WASHINGTON AMBASSADOR

TOKYO, Sept. 9.—Much criticism of Ainaro Sato who will take up his post as ambassador to the United States has been appearing in the Japanese press lately, and the Tokyo News agency has circulated a report that on account of the criticisms Sato would shortly resign on the plea of bad health. The foreign office issues a flat denial of the reports, stating that as Sato has been appointed by the emperor to represent Japan at Washington his resignation is out of the question.

The allegation made against Sato by his critics is that he lacks the ability necessary for such an important post. His record at the Portsmouth peace conference has been raked over and it is alleged that he blundered there by giving away information to newspapermen. Since the conference at Portsmouth Sato has been Japanese minister to Holland, a country which has comparatively little business with Japan. In 1909 he was accredited to Mexico but was recalled for duty at the foreign office.

MODEL HUSBAND TO BOTH, SAY WIVES OF BIGAMIST.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—A curious tale was unfolded in Bow street court when George Hanghan, a railroad man, was arraigned for bigamy. He had one wife in Newcastle and another in London, at the ends of his regular "run" and spent every alternate night with each wife. He had four children in Newcastle and one in London.

Both wives said Hanghan was an excellent father and husband. The first testified: "No one could have been happier than I was. No one could have been better than my husband. He was a splendid husband and a kind father. I want to take him home. He has fallen, but I will make a man of him yet."

When he heard this Hanghan cried bitterly and his agitation increased as the second "wife," who was almost prostrated, said he was extremely kind to her and a very affectionate father.

RUSSIAN SHELL SPOILS GERMAN BEER BARREL.

BERLIN, Sept. 9.—Lieutenant Fischbach, the adjutant of one of the Prussian regiments on the eastern front, writes home:

"There was joy in one of our companies recently. One of the soldiers had received a large barrel of genuine Bavarian beer from his father and he invited his comrades to share the precious beverage with him. As the barrel contained 68 gallons every man of the company would have received about a quart, but the Russians spoiled the feast. Just as the barrel was about to be tapped a shell struck the shelter of the company. A splinter of the bomb went through the cask and the beer squirted in all directions, forming a small lake on the floor. Two men were killed and three others severely wounded."

TWO DIVORCES IS TODAY'S RECORD

Two divorces were granted at the court house this morning. Laveria Steele was granted a decree of separation from Lawrence Steel on the grounds of gross neglect. The defendant was not present and Judge Klinzer decided that he would lose by default. The plaintiff is to have control of their minor children. Welby and Downing are her attorneys.

Judge Bailey granted Loretta C. Kennedy a divorce from William J. Kennedy, with alimony at the rate of $1 weekly, payable Saturdays. The grounds advanced by Mrs. Kennedy were gross neglect of duty, drunkenness and abuse. She was awarded control of their children. Elmer McClain is her attorney.

PROSPERITY CAUSES VAST DEMAND FOR SMALL COINS.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 9.—The most enormous demand for nickels and pennies ever known is now deluging the United States treasury department, and the mint in Denver is breaking all records for activity in manufacturing those coins. The mint is working day and night and Sundays. There is every indication that the rush will continue three months.

At present Denver mint is making only nickels and pennies. Each day it turns out $10,000 in nickels and $2,000 in pennies. These coins are shipped east at intervals—no one but the officials in charge of the mint know when.

If the present activity is continued three months—as Superintendent Thomas Anheer says undoubtedly it will—the Denver mint will have coined $900,000 in nickels and $180,000 in pennies, a total of $1,080,000 of these small coins. This would amount to 36,000,000 individual coins.

The Denver officials say this demand for coins of the smaller value is confined almost wholly to periods of great prosperity in the east.

FRENCH SHIRKERS MAY LOSE LEGACIES

PARIS, Sept. 9.—Can a Frenchman who, not having presented himself for military service, and thereby become a deserter, inherit money left to him in France?

This is the point that has arisen, owing to the recent death of the father of three sons, two of whom were killed in action. The third was in America when the war broke out, but preferring the U. S. A. to risking his life in the trenches, the unpatriotic one lately found himself sole heir to his father's fortune. Legislation is about to step in, however, with a view to framing up special fiscal reservations, as concerns the property of deserters.

A Frenchman who has shirked his duties to his country, it is claimed, should by virtue of his military crime, be deprived of all monetary and other legacies. It is more than probable that this thesis may shortly become law.

THE FAUROT PICTURES.

With the exception of Friday, when Neil O'Brien's minstrels open their regular season at the Faurot, that theatre will devote next week to the presentation of Paramount and Metro pictures.

For today the offering is the universal favorite, Marguerite Clark, who will again be seen in her delightful comedy-drama, "Molly Make-Believe." This production by the Famous Players was shown at ers forces. The feature is accompanied by new "Mutt and Jeff" cartoons and Metro Travelogues.

Vivian Martin, whose youth, beauty and talent have made her a prominent figure on both stage and screen, makes her first appearance on the Paramount program at the Faurot on Sunday and Monday. She will act the leading role in Oliver Morosco's production of "The Stronger Love." Miss Martin, who was selected by Charles Frohman to lead, Frank Lloyd, Jack Livingston, Herbert Standing and others of the big Morosco Company. A new Bray cartoon, "Farmer Alfalfa's Egg-Citement," and the latest edition of the Pathe News are also on the program.

Blanche Sweet, the beautiful and accomplished Lasky star, will be seen at the Faurot on Tuesday and Wednesday in the Paramount production of Margaret Turnbull's gripping story, "Public Opinion." This unusual drama is on the order of David Warfield's great success, "The Return of Peter Grimm," with the difference that one of the principal characters is that of the spirit of a woman. How this spirit attempts to guide the band of justice is shown in a manner that is entirely different from anything heretofore seen in photodrama. Mr. Lasky has given the picture some marvelous photography and has surrounded Miss Sweet with a cast of rare excellence, including Earle Foxe, Edythe Chapman, Elliott Dexter, Tom Forman and Raymond Hatton. "Public Opinion" will be accompanied by new Burton Holmes Travelogues, "In South Tirol," and the latest edition of the Pathe News.

That exceedingly popular stellar combination, Harold Lockwood and May Allison, comes to the Faurot on Thursday and Saturday of next week in their latest Metro success, "The River of Romance." This splendid production not only has the advantage of two favorite stars and a notable support cast, but that of a picturesque location. The scenes are laid in the Thousand Islands of the St. Lawrence, a locale that certainly gives the photographer unlimited opportunity for securing backgrounds of exquisite charm. The play is one of both humor and thrills and the two stars have roles that are most congenial. "The River of Romance" will be accompanied by a new comedy, "His Rival," with Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew, and Paramount Photograms, the "magazine on the screen." On Saturday new "Mutt and Jeff" cartoons will be added.

NEIL O'BRIEN'S MINSTRELS.

The opening attraction at the Faurot on Friday, September 15, will be Neil O'Brien's minstrels with an entirely new stage setting and new costumes throughout and without a single old feature. The association of this premier minstrel comedian with his manager Oscar F. Hodge, has been a particularly fortunate one and the organization is now in its fifth season. Each year the effort is made to improve on the one before and the O'Brien minstrels are now recognized as the foremost one in this popular style of entertainment. Mr. O'Brien is not only a successful and popular burnt cork comedian but is also a capable producer and stage director and the whole program is given under his supervision and bears the mark of his wit and good taste in staging the performance. Of course the comedian himself is a good part of the show but he is not all of it by any means and he has surrounded himself with a lot of other good entertainers both dancers, singers and comedians. Among these are Eddie Ross, Lasses White, Steve Wehrer, James Barrardi, Earl Holmes, Major Nowak and George Peduzzi.

The first part this year has a particularly pretty setting, a decided novelty in minstrel first parts. It is composed entirely of a pretty shade of crotonne and the scene bears a remarkable resemblance to an elaborate bon bon box. After the first

ing girls and the beasts of the desert fill the stage, lending a rare tinge the necessary romanticism of the role, and her audiences have been most enthusiastic over her work. Playing opposite Miss Traux is Mr. William Jeffrey as "Boris," monk, and in the great comic scene they exhibit their comic and dramatic powers to excellent advantage.

Among the other principals are Howard Gould as "Count Anteon," Albert Andrus as "Father Roubier" and James Mason as "Captain de Trevignac" fit admirably into the play.

Arabs, camels, horses, donkeys, goats, pigeons, etc., lend an artistic atmosphere to this wonderful scenic spectacle, and it will be exactly the same as seen at the Century theatre, New York City, during its run of one year in that city.

ORPHEUM.

For the second week of the Orpheum season, the management has provided an exceptionally strong vaudeville program. As a special feature Chief Caupolican, the Indian chief, who made such a sensation in Lima on his previous engagement at the Orpheum a year ago, will appear as one of the big features of the program. Chief Caupolican is a well known Keith vaudeville feature and in being able to present him again for the benefit of his many admirers, was only possible by the chief's admiration for Mr. Sun, the owner and booker of the Orpheum theatre. Chief Caupolican will appear in practically an entire new act, those who were not fortunate enough to see this great entertainer on his previpart, the new features are "The Jitney Jay Bus," a screaming one-act sketch written by O'Brien himself in which he plays the principal part; "The Ebony Yacht Club," a big dancing number staged by James Gorman and a one-act playlet called "The Bold, Brave, Black and Tans," written by George M. Cohan.

"The Bold, Brave, Black Tans" was written by Mr. Cohan for the famous "Frier's Frolic" and it was through the courtesy of the Yankee Doodle comedian that it was secured for the minstrels. It deals with the present Mexican flare-up and is said to be a most humorous concoction.

"THE GARDEN OF ALLAH." Saturday afternoon and night, September 23, at the Faurot, marks the engagement for two performances only of Liebler Company's stupendous stage production of "The Garden of Allah," a dramatization of Robert Richens' famous novel of the same name, by himself and Mary Anderson de Navarro.

Nine artful settings combine to make this production a masterpiece of stagecraft, and the stellar array of histrionic talent acting the different characters in the play serves to make the entire entertainment the most brilliant offering of the season.

Through the wonderful series of stage pictures, native Arabs, dan-ous visit will be delighted and to the many patrons who did see him his return engagement will prove a source of pleasure. In addition to this feature, four other high class vaudeville acts are on the program, namely Short and the Miller Sisters, in singing, dancing and music, a very pleasing and entertaining act. Little Lord Roberts, in an artistic change act, will prove very enjoyable, despite his years, he is said to be most wonderful. Clare and Flo Gould will offer an original dancing act, in which all devotees of the terpsichorean art, will find the greatest enjoyment. The Four Jupiters in an amazing and daring aerial act will close the program amidst thrills to marvelous dexterity.

Tomorrow, Sunday, the Orpheum will present both afternoon and night a wonderful five-reel motion picture feature, entitled "A Matrimonial Martyr," a colored feature picture from the Pathe studios, featuring Miss Ruth Roland. In addition to the feature picture a vaudeville features will be offered. One performance Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Continuous at night from 7 p. m.

Happy Heroines My Favorites

By MARGUERITE CLARK

THE persecuted heroine always arouses compassion, but I sometimes think that when she weeps and wails instead of really doing something about it all she loses the sympathy of her audience. Though it is very sorry to see her in distress, it would have a great deal higher regard for her if she showed an inclination to combat the evils which beset her, instead of ruining her handkerchief and her make-up.

It seems to me that the average audience prefers the heroine who helps herself—the self-reliant type, which, though frightened beyond expression, bites her lip and tackles the difficulty, be it man or beast. I have played little girl and the helpless little girl and the heroine who takes matters into her own hands, and it has been my experience that the latter arouses more real sympathy than the former. I think that we prefer to cheer a person on to big achievement rather than to console him or her in moments of distress.

Take, for instance, the little girl in "Molly Make-Believe," the Paramount Picture produced by the Famous Players. I think she is going to win more sympathy than the most tearful heroine I ever played. With never a thought of herself, she allows her cheerful, unselfish personality to radiate from her letters, the spirit of which gradually affects the man who reads them. That, it seems to me, is the sort of girl that we all most admire.

Reverting to happy heroines—it has always seemed to me that one of the causes of Peggy's popularity in "Mice and Men" is the fact that she has a mind of her own and turns things topsy-turvy when they do not suit her. And just because she is "spanky" we all love her. If she wept at her misfortune instead of behaving as she does, Peggy would have fewer friends than she seems to have made both in the box and on the stage and on the screen.

BUFFALO BILL DUE IN CAMP EXHIBIT

Old Scout, Young Westerners, U. S. Regulars, Exemplars of Preparedness.

Buffalo Bill (Col. William F. Cody), after years of absence will visit our city Sept. 14, combining his old Wild West atmosphere with the Miller Bros.-Arlington enlarged "101 Ranch" show, and a military contingent of furloughed United States soldiers just from service on the Rio Grande. He gives a practical training exhibit with his rough riders and military.

"Military service, whatever its desirability, from the other points of view," says the Journal of the American Medical Association, "has at least one merit—it tends to bring out the facts with regard to the physical fitness of the male population. Nations seldom take stock of the physical condition of their citizens, except for military purposes. Sometimes the exigencies of war bring to light unwelcome facts."

E. E. Rittenhouse in an address advocating the establishment of a national vitality commission, asks: "How long would it take to rebuild a regiment of men from our large body of untrained citizens composed partly from men of the great physically low-powered group? It is more than probable that a searching investigation would discover us as a nation to be fundamentally, that is, physically—equally unprepared for peace or for war."

This American exhibit, revised into many new features such as Villa's raid at Columbus, will present many historic episodes of the life on the western frontier—a composite exhibit of frontiersmen from many people—Indians, cowboys, Cossacks, Arabs, Japanese, ranch boys, Mexicans and U. S. regulars—devoted to a leave of absence as specimens of possibilities of fit physical condition for preparedness, representatives of many hundreds of thousands of their fellows in the great west available, when legislation furnishes the wherewithal and the nation demands their answering the roll call—not for aggressive war, but for defensive peace, security and liberty.

The last of the great scouts—Buffalo Bill and one of the last of the southwest rangers, Col. Joe Miller, will lead the plain, uncaparioned procession on the morning of arrival. See it and be instructed in picturesque personalities of outdoor life.

"WHERE ARE MY CHILDREN?"

The powerful photo drama, "Where Are My Children?" which comes to the Orpheum theater for an engagement of three days, starting Monday, Sept. 18, has received the highest commendation from thoughtful people in the cities that have been so fortunate as to have seen it. Tyrone Power and his capable company never had a better opportunity of presenting a more delicate subject in a more forcible manner. Handling as it does, the subject of birth control, eugenics and the teaching of the young the truth of birth, love, and the crowning glory of life, parenthood, it is a masterpiece.

It has shocked the thoughtless, opened wide the eyes of the so-called wise ones, and awakened humanity to one of the greatest crimes of the age, that of the ruthless murder of the unborn. Men are taking their boys to see it, women are urging the management to let their daughters see the picture, the cruel, selfish society women have shed many tears for the wicked practice which has closed the gates of heaven to them and relegated them to a dishonored and unloved old age.

Mothers, who through false modest, have let their daughters drift along in ignorance, will welcome this exposition of one of the dangers which confronts every girl just budding into womanhood. The author has drawn the characters of the story true to life, and with a remarkable grasp for comparison. Frivolous society women are shown in the picture who sacrifice the highest and best function of their nature—if it interferes with their pleasure, and who prefer dogs to babies, are a daily sight.

The mothers from the slums, in a proper environment, and drunken fathers are pitifully true as social workers can attest. The problems which confront our judges, and others who are trying to raise the standard of morality, is also vividly laid before the audience. The joys of motherhood, and the sorrow of a

St. Marys to Be Attraction At Murphy Park

Manager Callahan of the Independent club, predicts that the game tomorrow afternoon at Murphy street park, between the Independents and St. Marys, will be one of the best contests that has been staged at the local park this year.

The winner of the contest tomorrow will strengthen the hold on the championship title of Allen and Auglaize counties. Final decision on the title will occur on September 17, when St. Marys will play the locals the second game of the season.

According to the report of the manager of the visitors, a large number of fans will accompany the team to this city to cheer their favorites to victory. Arrangements have been made to charter a special car to accommodate fans.

St. Marys will present one of the strongest line-ups that they have boasted of for years. Huenke and Wilson, the pair who form the battery, are one of the best in this section of the state.

Huenke up until this year had been pitching semi-pro ball. This year he received a try-out with the Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, club, of one of the eastern leagues. He made good from the start but owing to some disagreement in regard to salary he refused to remain with the club.

Manager Callahan was afraid that he would be forced to do without the services of Herring the star pitcher for the locals, when the latter inquired whether he would be able to do the receiving act for a fast team in Dayton, next Sunday.

Dayton will play a fast Cincinnati amateur team. The game will be an elimination contest to decide which of the teams takes part in the battle for the championship of the United States. Both of the clubs are trying to strengthen their line-ups in preparation for the contest.

However, Herring, who is being paid a handsome salary for back-stopping, was informed that the game with St. Marys was very important, and that his services would be needed at Murphy street park. The line-up of the local club will be the same as last Sunday.

The line-up of St. Marys will be as follows: Yeager, lf; Toben, 3b; Dardio ss; J. Swartz rf; Wilson c; Fickel 1b; Weiser, cf; Baxter 2b; Huenke p, and W. Swartz p.

ADVENTIST ATHLETE HARS MEAT, PEPPER, TOBACCO, TEA.

CLINTON, Mo., Sept. 9.—Dusty and travel worn, but with his long strides retaining the vigor of all his 15 years of backwood life, Clarence Barton trucked into town, after covering 130 miles from Turner, Mo. He came in the heat and dust over the miles of hills to attend the Missouri conference of the seventh Day Adventists.

And this youth has lived a strange life in the very modern and up-to-date State of Missouri. In all his 15 years he never has tasted a mouthful of meat. Never has a drink of tea or coffee passed his lips. His meager fare of daff food has never been seasoned with pepper. He never has tasted a drop of alcohol in any form and does not know the twang of tobacco smoke. And he is a perfect specimen—a young backwood giant. Barton excelled in all the sports of the camp.

YOUTHFUL WONDER IN TITLE GOLF TOURNAMENT.

BOBBY JONES

It was not the playing of the veterans that furnished the thrills in the amateur golf championship tournament on the links of the Merion Golf club at Haverford, Pa., but the remarkable playing of fourteen-year old Bobby Jones, champion of Georgia.

This well built, although youthful golfer, amazed the gallery the first day by qualifying, and created still further consternation, when on the succeeding days, he eliminated some of the veterans of the game. He beat Ed Dyer, the Pittsburgh veteran and former national champion, and was a victor over Gardner, the champion, up in the morning struggle on the third round of the tournament. In the afternoon round Gardner turned the tables by 4 up and 3 to play.

HIS CLUTCH SLIPPED.

Harold, aged 4, was trudging the distance of many blocks with his father to Sunday school, and the long tramp was almost too much for him. The father, glancing back, noticed the small boy's fatigue and slackening his pace, asked: "Am I walking too fast, son?"
"No," returned the small boy, puffing and panting breathlessly. "It's me, pap." The Christian Herald.

Chi. Wins In Eleven Innings

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 9.—Catcher O'Neill of Cleveland, enabled Chicago to win its sixth straight game yesterday, 3 to 2, after 11 innings. Terry walked in the eleventh and advanced a base on Schalk's out. Cicotte struck out, but O'Neill allowed the ball to get away from him. After he recovered it, he threw to right field, trying to catch Cicotte and Terry scored from second with the winning run. Cleveland made five hits and Tris Speaker was credited with four of them.

U.S. STEEL COMMON MAKES HIGH RECORD

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—The most important feature on the stock exchange today was United States Steel common, which, just at the end of the first hour's trading jumped to 102, a new high record. The demand for the stock was enormous. There was a brisk buying movement at the opening of the stock market today and further substantial gains were made in many issues. Most interest was attached to the trading in Reading, which was in persistent demand, rising 1 1/2 to 112 1/2, again making a new high record. International Paper advanced 1 1/2 to 25 1/2, the highest price at which that stock has sold since 1906. The copper stocks were in good demand, Inspiration advancing a point and Greene-Canaan a point to 51. U. S. Steel rose 1/2 to 100 1/2. The Marine issues were in good demand, the common advancing a point to 49 1/2, and the preferred 1 1/2 to 122 1/2. Mexican Petroleum moved up 1 1/2 to 112 1/2.

The stock market closed strong. Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds strong. BUSINESS GOES ON AT FULLEST SPEED

Dun's Review Shows No Halt in Trade Activity Anywhere.
NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Dun's Review has this to say regarding trade conditions: Business in nearly every line and in all sections of the country is going ahead at full speed. The halting tendency of the preceding week, due to the shadow of Labor day vacationists, has been succeeded by activity, which shows no signs of slackening. The strength of the situation is reflected in the steady call from every sector for all classes of merchandise, even in those districts where smaller crops would ordinarily have resulted in more or less depression, the demand being maintained in remarkably heavy volume by the exceptionally high prices received for all kinds of farm products. Jobbers of dry goods report that fall trade is well above the average, and while buyers display a healthy conservatism in their operations, they appear convinced that the prosperity of the people, due to steady employment at good wages, will ensure a profitable outlet for their purchases, in spite of the advance in costs. Activities at textile centers is still pronounced, and more new business is being offered than producers are able to accept. Most industries are running full time and interruptions caused by labor troubles have little noticeable effect. The heavy consumption of goods and increasing retail distribution, due to the growing purchasing power of the consuming public, all point to an unusually large fall and winter trade. Collections are generally satisfactory.

MARTON—While trying to learn to shoot, Mrs. Fred Zachman shot herself in the left eye. She was taken to the hospital. Because of numerous local burglaries, her husband asked her to learn to shoot. It is said.

BARNESVILLE—Three cases of typhoid fever are due to a well having been dug too close to an abandoned well on the James Walton farm. Rebecca Walton, aged 21, is dead, and a brother and cousin are ill.

LARION—A lighted candle, an open gasoline tank—an explosion. Now William Ervine is nursing some severe burns. He started to clean out his auto tank the other night.

LORAIN—Louis Bedore, tiring of the monotony of single existence and believing that it is not good for man to dwell alone, is advertising to relieve his condition. Bedore, a farmer, 24, even of temperament, not fastidious as to appetite, dress and other demands, presents an opportunity to some girl to acquire a husband exceedingly worth, Bedore's friends say.

NEW YORK—A co-operative marriage contract, drawn by Arthur S. Levy, a lawyer, and typed by Miss Pauline Cahn, was signed by both and now they are Mr. and Mrs. Levy. No minister was used.

His Sixteen Years' Suffering Now Ended
"I can say with the greatest of pleasure that Foley Kidney Pills were the only thing that gave me relief in sixteen years. Mr. G. W. Henderson of Dingle, Miss., says more than they told me suffered with cystitis (inflammation of the bladder). It went on until he reached the point where he had dizzy weak spells, and sometimes he would almost faint with pain. Of course, he doctored, and after the medical springs and drank waters of different kinds, which altogether cost him a large sum of money, still no permanent relief. Now comes a friend who recommends Foley Kidney Pills, and after using half a dozen bottles, his pains are all gone, he sleeps soundly all night. When kidney and bladder trouble comes on you and you suffer the pains and aches it causes, have irregular, painful secretions and a burning sensation, take Foley Kidney Pills once and you will echo Mr. Henderson's sentiments. H. F. VORTKAMP.

Bachache? Run Down? Tired? Clean the Kidneys with Hot Water and "Anuric"
When run-down after a hard winter—when life indoors has brought about a stagnant condition in the circulation—most everyone is filled with uric acid—especially in this so of people past middle age. This uric acid in the blood often causes rheumatism, lumbago, swelling of hands or feet, or a bag-like condition under the eye. Bachache, frequent urination or the pains and stiffness of the joints are also noticed. Dr. Pierce says that everyone should have a good sweat every day—should drink plenty of pure water and exercise in the open air as much as possible. This helps to throw out the poisonous uric acid through the skin and the "water." But for such persons as are past middle age, it's often impossible to do this and lime salts are deposited in the arteries, veins and joints, causing all kinds of distressing conditions. An antidote for this uric acid poison is a "take hot water before meals and "Anuric." Ask your druggist for Doctor Pierce's Anuric, or send Dr. Pierce's Invalid Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y., a dollar bill for a full treatment, or ten cents for a trial package. "Anuric" is a recent scientific discovery by Dr. Pierce. "Anuric" drives the uric acid out of your body. It is a uric acid solvent so effective that it eliminates these poisons, cleanses the system, allows your over-worked kidneys to resume their normal functions, and just a few days' treatment with "Anuric" will convince you because it brings lasting relief to your painful, aching rheumatic joints—no more uric acid or dizzy spells. Try it now and be convinced!
